

Poultry Science Association

2021 Poultry Science Association Annual Meeting Symposium Paper Criteria: DEADLINE FOR PAPER SUBMISSION: 01 SEPT 2021

Poultry Science Symposium Proceedings

Two different approaches are available and can be decided upon by the symposium chair. All speakers in a symposium must use the same publishing format and journal. Papers are submitted by the symposium chair to the Editor-in-Chief of the journal. Each symposium chair is responsible for identifying four confirmed reviewers and including the names and contact information with the submission(s).

1. Submit a single proceedings paper that is a composite paper of all topics covered during the symposium.
 - a. All speakers are listed as authors on the paper.
 - b. An overall summary and conclusion tying the topics together and relevancy to the journal audience must be included.
 - c. Each speaker provides a 2-3 page extended abstract on the topic discussed. These topics will be section headings and the speaker listed as the author of the section.
 - d. It is encouraged to include a section with the questions and answers from the symposia.
 - e. Figures/graphs/tables are encouraged to easily convey data from the speakers
 - f. Any preliminary/unpublished data included in the written document must be identified clearly for the audience.
 - g. Citations are important but not absolute.

2. Proceedings papers can be published by each individual presenter on the topics covered within the symposium (series of stand-alone papers).
 - a. The symposium chair is responsible for submitting all papers at the same time to the intended journal by the submission deadline.
 - b. These individuals' proceedings papers would follow formatting:
 - i. Journal of Applied Poultry Research (reviews, research reports or field reports)
 - ii. Poultry Science (reviews)

2022 and beyond Poultry Science Annual Meeting Symposium Paper Criteria:
DEADLINE FOR PAPER SUBMISSION: 01 JUL 2022

Poultry Science Symposium Proceedings

Two different approaches are available and can be decided upon by the symposium chair. All speakers in a symposium must use the same publishing format and journal. Papers are submitted by the symposium chair to the Annual Meeting Planning Committee Symposium Proceedings Section Chair.

1. Submit a single proceedings paper that is a composite paper of all topics covered during the symposium.
 - a. All speakers are listed as authors on the paper.
 - b. An overall summary and conclusion tying the topics together and relevancy to the journal audience must be included.
 - c. Each speaker provides a 2-3 page extended abstract on the topic discussed. These topics will be section headings and the speaker listed as the author of the section.
 - d. Figures/graphs/tables are encouraged to easily convey data from the speakers
 - e. Any preliminary/unpublished data included in the written document must be identified clearly for the audience.
 - f. Citations are important but not absolute.

2. Proceedings papers can be published by each individual presenter on the topics covered within the symposium (series of stand-alone papers).
 - a. The symposium chair is responsible for submitting all papers at the same time to the intended journal by the submission deadline.
 - b. These individuals' proceedings papers would follow formatting:
 - i. Journal of Applied Poultry Research (reviews, research reports or field reports)
 - ii. Poultry Science (reviews)